History:

Janet Williams Gould, known to many in Corona as "The Duchess," (b. 9-27-1878, d. 7-21-1964) was born Janet Overall Williams in White Oaks Plantation near Fayette, Missouri. She came from an old eastern family who were prominent in Missouri history. Her father, Robert Pruit Williams (b. 9-8-1841, d. 7-11-1910) served as Missouri's twentieth state treasurer. Her mother was Ann Maughs Overall (b. 12-12-1858) who gave birth to 7 sisters! It is said that her interest in history was first aroused by her Virginia born grandmother. Ms. Gould came to Corona in 1910 as the bride of Walter Minturn Dean (b. 9-24-1874 in Evanston Illinois). She had two children, Manley born in 1911 and Elise in 1914. Walter Dean died during the influenza epidemic of 1918. Janet later married Chester M. Gould of Corona. Chester died on February 28, 1952.

In 1924 Frank Rolfe and Rose Ellerbe asked Ms. Gould to prepare information on the painted rock of Temescal Canyon, to be used in nominating the rock for a landmark register. This led to many excursions into the canyons of the surrounding areas of the Santa Ana Mountains. Chester accompanied Janet and was the photographer of many of the photographs contained within the collection. Many of the objects of those photographs have since vanished – lost either through vandalism, into private collections, or to the ravages of time. Ms. Gould gathered information on the history of the region, which she shared with students and civic groups. She wrote plays, gave radio talks, wrote articles published in newspapers and journals, and received awards for her work, both at the state and local levels. She was a frequent speaker and contributor to groups in the Corona area and to the Historical Society of San Diego and the Historical Society of Southern California.

Gould stirred interest in marking and preserving local landmarks. She was also the first to recognize the inherent danger in not drawing attention to irreplaceable cultural resources. In their excursions into the field, her daughter and step-daughter found a community metate, Janet herself found an olla (jar) from the Luiseño Indians, and later found other artifacts from both Indian and Spanish inhabitation. Gould became very active in historical documentation in 1924 and began submitting local points of historical interest and historic sites to California state historical boards. Long interested in history, she collected information on the aboriginal Indians of the Temescal Canyon and wash area and of the Spanish Rancho families. Her most prolific period was between 1924 and 1936

Scope and Content:

This manuscript collection contains the personal notes, collected correspondence, personal correspondence, newspaper clippings, and bibliographic references of Janet Williams Gould. The jar was donated to the Corona Library in 1964. Some of her talks to students and other groups were tape recorded and have been donated to the Heritage Room by the Corona Women's Club. The pictures, documents and maps document both early habitation in the area, as well as later founding of Corona (first named South Riverside) in the late nineteenth century. Copies of many of the Mexican land grant court cases, heard during the break up of the large ranchos following the Mexican-American war, are included in the collection. Information on the founding of the town, reminisces of the founders, receipts from the early South Riverside Land and Development Company, and photographs are also included. There is little about Janet herself. Other items were donated to the Bancroft and Huntington Libraries
